The Great Escape

This is my first chapter. I am hoping people will enjoy this. I am open for criticism! _May the Force be with you..._

What if there was another galaxy? What if there was another galaxy with Jedis?

"Rey, you are growing strong with _The Force_," The Jedi legend, Luke Skywalker exclaimed. Rey turned off Luke's lightsaber and sat down to take a breather.

"Master Luke, do you think Kylo Ren isâ€¦ dead?" Rey sputtered. "I didn't want to kill him, I felt it wasn't the right way to go,"

"Rey, it doesn't matter if you killed him or not. All that matters is that you, Han Solo, Chewbacca and your other people defeated the First Order," Luke explained, "Anyway, I have something for you," Luke said. "I have been keeping it for a the next Jedi I would train," Luke soon revealed a shining, silver and gold lightsaber.

"It's a-amazing!" Rey turned on the gleaming lightsaber. A green glow lit up in front of her.

"Now, we mu-." Luke stopped.

"Master Luke? Master Luke?! Are you okay?!" Soon Rey saw what had Luke awestruck. And it wasn't a good thing. About 300 ships landed at the base of the mountain. Soon the doors opened. And there he stood.
The villain who was the threat for the galaxy. The leader of the First Order. Kylo Ren.

"Fan out. We must find Skywalker before he trains that girl to her max" Ren demanded.

Then, 10s, 20s, 30s, 50s, 100s of Stormtroopers raided the mountain.

"Rey we don't have a lot of timeâ€¦...You'll have to fight to the ship, go as far as possible!" Luke uttered seriously.

"But what about you?" Rey managed to say.

"I'll do what I can to catch up with you, JUST GET TO THE SHIP!" Luke commanded, turning on his lightsaber. Rey did the same.

"I'm not leaving without my mentor." Rey said as seriously as Luke would say.

"Rey, you are a brave fighter and I admire that. But this is something I must do." Luke backed up to the edge of the cliff, water beneath.

"Goodbye Reyâ€¦.." Luke's body went off the edge and disappeared to the dark, watery abyss off the ocean.

"Noooo!" Rey screamed, tears falling. "That's itâ€¦. Time to use what Luke taught me."

Rey was running. Sprinting to the the _Millennium Falcon. _Soon she was killing and stabbing and slicing any person who got in her way. Right when she was going to open the cockpit, a red saber was held at her neck.

"Kylo Ren. What do want from me!" Rey screamed, jumping away.

"You know what I want. WHERE IS SKYWALKER!" Ren yelled.

"H-He diedâ€¦.." Rey whispered

"What!? The Jedi, Luke Skywalker, dead?" Ren said furiously

"Yes. Anyway gotta go, BYE!" Rey said hopping into the cockpit. She turned on the ignition. The engine roared. Soon the thrusters fired up and then, Rey was gone.

'_D-Damn itâ€¦.Why'd Luke have to die'_ Rey thought. She was deep into space. Luckily Chewy hid in the ship, so she and the furry co-pilot went of to a part of the galaxy no one has ever been toâ€¦ At least that's what they thoughtâ€¦...

Authors Note: Well, I hope you enjoyed this chapter! Please read my future ones to find out, Where the heck is Rey and Chewy?
